Upcoming surprise

I MIGHT have a nice surprise for the members of TFW in the near future. I know my video set will be regarding Self-Defense for civilians, and hopefully will be a longer video set (shooting for around 2-3 hours). Depending on how much people like it, I'll follow it up with a set for Law Enforcement and Women's Self-Protection.

However, in the meantime- I might be able to push something else out that I think is desperately needed... More to come...

I think the suspense might kill me. If it does, I'm going to get God to let me come back and haunt you. :evil:

I have started taking a few judo classes to help my overall game. Since I never wrestled as a kid I think the stand-up grappling will really help me. Your thoughts?

I think you might REALLY love the upcoming surprise...

I think I smell a take-down video set...

If I could (hypothetically) be right, what would the (hypothetical) emphasis of this video set be on, take-downs or throws?

And hopefully they won't only hypothetically work...

Hypothetically, I MIGHT be able to get some takedowns filmed in one solid set focusing on high percentage methods of getting your opponent to the mat, whether it be in a cage or a ring. This set will probably come after the self-defense set, but I assure you that the hypothetical takedowns set will have a few more surprises.

Would it (hypothetically, of course) be VIP-requisite or a free set?

probably be priced like the other sets ($25 for download and $35 for DVD). But I'm sure there will be some freebies that you can sample before purchasing.

I have not forgotten the greatest lesson ever learned from your self defense class. "The mat is blue" Its a lot better when you get to watch.

If all goes well, I should start filming the surprise set on Sunday! I'll keep everyone posted. I think that set will be a great addition that is desperately needed!
